Report on Dean Holen and Dr. Griffin response to DCC grant proposal guidelines—Zacharakis

Refer international travel applications to International Studies. Dean Holen will match any grant they provide.

Update on Educational Considerations special issue on NCATE Standard IV—Zacharakis

All manuscripts have been received and are undergoing a final edit. Jo Foy has been helping Jeff, and will be co-author on introduction.

Discussion on Speakers—Staples

Co-sponsor Dwight D. Jones, who will be on campus as an alumni fellow. Jeff and Kimberly will work with Dean Holen on how DCC can be a co-sponsor. Exact schedule and amount of DCC contribution through our grant program will be determined later. He will be on campus, Feb. 2011. He is expert on how to close achievement gaps. We would like to see two interactive sessions: one for faculty and one for Junior and Senior undergraduate pre-service teachers, interns, and graduate students.

Dr. James Bank emailed Kimberly about discussing a possible trip to K-State. He is expert on typologies of multicultural education. He is the endowed chair and director of the Center for Multicultural Education at the University of Washington, Seattle, Washington. Kimberly will be visiting with Dr. Banks later this month.

Other Business

Jeff met with Ed Council to promote DCC grant proposals for undergraduates. DCC should expect to receive one or more proposals.

Present: Keven Murry, Kimberly Staples, Amy Hunt, Keith Powers and Jeff Zacharakis
